With its glitzy beach resorts, five star restaurants and late night clubs, Miami is a playground for travelers wanting to experience the flavor of the tropics with cosmopolitan amenities. And why not? Miami is easy and convenient. It offers multiple flights per day in and out of major cities throughout the United States and abroad. Specifically for New Yorkers, its three hour flight time ensures you'll be back at your desk come Monday morning. While Miami offers something for everyone, the insider action is now taking place all over the city, all year long, particularly in areas like Wynwood, Midtown and the Design District.

Faena Miami Beach

Stay: Though insiders may flock west of the beach, there is quite nothing like waking up to the smell and view of the ocean. For a hip neighborhood on the beach but outside South Beach, look no further than Mid-Beach, the new label for Miami Beach north of 23rd Street. That's where Alan Faena's Faena universe lives, which spans the epic resort Faena Miami Beach as well as boutique hotel Casa Faena. Faena is quintessential Miami glitz but its opulence is nothing short of luxury. Everything from the rooms to the restaurants to the spa features Faena touchpoints like rich velvet brocades, leopard print and seductive Art-Deco designs. This fall will mark the opening of the Faena Bazaar, a curated retail experience with everything one could want for a stylish Miami weekend. You may be among tourists at Faena, but once there, you won't care in the slightest.
